I'd have to say my favourite movie has been Donnie Darko. However, Brick and Little Miss Sunshine has come pretty close to replacing that status.

Indiana Jones!!! By far the best movie trilogy EVER made. Every single movie was incredible and I can watch them over and over again. Plus I love Harrison Ford.

It's the third.

My favorite films are Howl's Moving Castle, a masterpiece of animation and acting, The History Boys (the play was still better, though) and Grave of the Fireflies. I think that's all of them, I'm sure a few have slipped my mind. I never like to rate one above another, you see: I think it's unfair to compare a sci-fi with a comedy, and such-like, as they use different conventions.

Dude, he's awesome in all of his movies! The reason I like Indy best is because it's not only an awesome actor, but awesome directors too (before Lucas went nuts with green screens) I hear there's a new Indy movie coming, and I will be first in line for that! :laugh:

Yeah Indiana Jones films kick ass, especially the lost ark one :D My favorite.

The one film he was in which I didn't like was Firewall. I dunno why, but it just sucked I don't think he tried to act that well in that one.

Nah, Serenity is up there on my list, too. Although I much preferred Firefly. Serenity felt like it spend all the time re-explaining its premise and it felt forced.

My fav is probably Ocean's 11, though. I'm not usually into crime movies, but Ocean's 11 was awesome. It was very well-made in my opinion.

Either that or Running With Scissors. It was very odd, but still a fun trip to watch.

My absolute changes periodically..

but maybe "Dead Poets Society"

Also love School of Rock, the all time great Mrs Doubtfire.. Donnie Darko, Pay it Forward, Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind, Rocky Horror Picture Show, Almost Famous, Garden State, and MASK. I've seen so many films it's hard to choose favourites.. there are probably some I just can't remember.

I love comedies and what I guess are called "thought provoking" films, or whatever.

I always loved Donnie Darko, but I saw both Pulp Fiction and From Dusk Till Dawn at a friend's house the other night. Pretty funny that people often complain Tarantino's movies are too violent, but most of the people in the room were complaining Pulp 'didn't have enough action'. I thought it was awesome.

my top 10, no particular order - theyre all AMAZING!:

pulp fiction
lost in translation 2046
the road home
battle royale
cold mountain
Kill Bill 1/2
Amelie
Todo sobre mi madre Grave of the fireflies

i have soooo many more great ones but these r prob my main favourites! Donnie Darko narrowly missed the list.

2046 - honestly, the best film ever made! Wong kar-wai is a legend!
